

About the Cornell Historical Society

The Cornell Historical Society (CHS) is an undergraduate organization at Cornell University founded in the fall of 2010. The mission of CHS is to foster an appreciation and understanding of historical topics and methodology within the undergraduate student body and general community. We publish an annual journal, Ezra's Archives, which showcases undergraduate research in the field of history. In addition we support the History Advising Program for incoming students. If you wish to learn more, please contact us at cornellhistoricalsociety@gmail.com or visit us online at <https://sites.google.com/site/cornellhistoricalsociety/>.